To Whom it Concerns,

I was just recently made aware of this public notice (no thanks to the statist media who did a huge disservice to all Americans by not alerting us to it). So, please pardon the fact that this message is beyond your deadline for comments.

My opinion? No, I am not in favor of this option. Social Security is a bankrupt travesty and now the government, i.e. Obama Administration, wants to seize every American's personal savings. The reason we have 401k(s) and Thrift Savings to help us prepare for retirement as we all knew that Social Security was going belly up and won't be available when we retire. So, no! The government is NOT ENTITLED to my money, my husband's money or any American's personal savings! You already tax it when we have to start using it!

This is nothing short of THEFT and you do not have the Constitutional right to STEAL our money! Americans all across the country have woken up to your statist deeds and we are standing up and fighting back!
